Why Choose The Venue Portfolio?

The idea of getting married outside appeals to many people, and why wouldn't it? The beautiful scenery, the fresh air and the option to have every element of the day exactly as you planned it.

But doing everything yourself means that either you, or one of your friends or family, need to be onhand throughout the entire day, just in case something goes wrong.

By choosing one of The Venue Portfolio venues, all of the behind the scenes stuff is left to us, so that you can relax and be part of the party.

Alice's 20 years of event management experience means things run like clockwork and Derek's engineering skills means that if something untoward does happen with the toilets or generator, for example, he can sort it without you needing to think twice.

As a family run company, we are the ones who answer your initial enquiry right through to being there on the day itself. You will never get 'passed on' to another member of the team so you won't need to keep repeating yourself and can have confidence that your vision will be delivered.
